FRONT

BACK

A black and silver mechanical device, possibly a stylus or a small tool, standing vertically on a light-colored surface. The device has a long, thin black body with a silver-colored band near the top and a silver-colored base. The base features a small, rectangular opening. The device is positioned centrally in the frame.
